Slam or Game Is Difference

By JACOBY & SON

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The artificial catch-all two-club opening bid shows either a regular two bid in some suit or a strong no-trump hand if you play the weak two convention. Specifically, if you follow it with a minimum bid in no-trump, you show a 23 or 24-point no-trump hand.

If you jump to three no-trump, you show better than 26 points.

South has a mighty fine hand. He only has 26 high card points but he is certain of nine tricks at no-trump, even if partner has an absolute blank.

If he uses the forcing two-club bid, he opens two clubs and can afford to rebid to three no-trump after his partner gives him the negative two-diamond response. This makes it a cinch for North to bid on with his six points. Six plus 27 equals 33 and South has shown the equivalent of at least 27 points by his jump to three no-trump. (Even though South's actual high-card count is 26, he can easily figure an extra point or two for his six-cards.)

Now let's see what happens when ordinary two bids are used. South opens with two hearts and North responds two no-trump, since a king, queen and jack aren't enough to warrant a positive response.

If South rebids to three no-trump, North will pass. He won't know that his partner has quite that much.

Of course, South does not have to rebid to three no-trump. But he has no way to show this great strength unless he goes past game under his own power, and, although South has three no-trump in his own hand, he may not be able to make anything more if his partner really has a blank.

The difference in bidding is between a no-trump game, plus extra tricks, and a slam bonus.

4-CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
1♠ Dble. Pass 2♥
Pass 3♥ Pass ?

You, South, hold:
♠5 ♠K J 5 4 ♠Q 10 6 5 4 ♠5 2

What do you do?
A—Bid four hearts. You have six points and a fair heart suit. Your two-heart bid promised nothing.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three hearts, your partner passes your two-heart bid and East bids two spades. What do you do now?

There Is a New Face in Hungary

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)

—They were dancing the twist in a dingy bar on the outskirts of Budapest and a drunken man shouted to a foreigner: "Look at the face of new Hungary."

The piano player sang in English into a microphone. Men in dark suits and women with tired faces moved rhythmically on the tiled floor.

Ten years after the ill-fated 1956 revolt, Budapest lives like any other city, making the most of it. It does not like to talk of its scars.

Black smoke billows against a gray wistful sky over Dunaujvaros, the new Communist-built steel city with its giant factory complex and gray and yellow apartment houses lining wide avenues.

"I admit," said a Hungarian economist, "that in retrospect Dunaujvaros was a mistake. It is costly and not essential. Today we would not have built it."

In the Dunaujvaros Hotel lobby, Hungarian television was showing Verdi's "Requiem." A Hungarian woman guide waited for a group of Soviet tourists.

The hotel restaurant listed French brandies and English whiskies — at the equivalent of $1.50 a glass.

Wind-whipped snow blew across the wide Hungarian plain. In Szekesfehervar, Soviet soldiers stationed in Hungary walked in groups, looking at shop windows.

Near Lake Balaton, Hungary's touristic center, deserted bungalows, hotels and summer houses waited for better weather.

"Workers can come here for as little as 50 cents a day," said the guide.

In the lobbies of Budapest hotels, voices in all languages of the West spoke loud, demanding services. The Hungarian government was ready to serve them: It has guides, Western cars for rental, tours of Budapest by day, trips to the interior — for dollars, pounds, Swiss francs.

A Gypsy band crowded around an American woman who stubbornly repeated the name of a song. The band did not know the song and the violinist hopelessly tried one tune after the other.

In the gilded Budapest Opera House, a Bartok ballet was being shown. Some Hungarian women had come in business suits, others had bare arms, decolee dresses and glittering jewelry.

"Look at those women," someone whispered. "You cannot imagine how tired Hungarian women are. They work at home, they work in offices, take care of children and husbands and still have energy to go out at night."

There are new, bold trends everywhere — in art, literature, sculpture. In a political cabaret, an entertainer tried to laugh about new economic reforms, price increases and higher taxes. The audience applauded — there was little else to do but laugh.

Neither Supposed to Visit in Bars

MADERA, Calif. (AP) — Robert Barbour, 25, was appearing in Madera Justice Court, accused by police of being in a bar in violation of his probation.

Dennis Wisener, 24, testified Barbour could not have been in that bar because he and Barbour were drinking together at a different bar at the time.

When Wisener finished his testimony, a deputy probation officer, Tom Barnes, arrested him for violating the terms of his own probation. Wisener, convicted of stealing hay, was not supposed to frequent bars either.

Barbour was fined $100 and Wisener sentenced to 90 days in jail.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

A Balanced Diet Is Best Vitamin Source

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is it a good thing to take cod liver oil capsules and ascorbic acid tablets during the winter months? Is there any harm in taking extra amounts of vitamin B-1 and B-12 daily?

A—Cod liver oil is usually given to infants during periods when they cannot get direct sunlight on their skin, unless an ultraviolet sunlamp is used instead. This is to prevent rickets. The need is not so great in adults because, although they may develop osteomalacia (softening of the bones) due to a deficiency of vitamin D, they usually get their requirement (which is much less than for a child) even in winter by eating eggs, various seafoods and drinking vitamin D-enriched milk.

Similarly, the requirement for ascorbic acid (vitamin C) for both adults and children is amply met by getting a small amount of citrus fruit or juice daily.

Vitamins of the B complex can be taken in large amounts without harm (this is not true of vitamins A and D) but unless you have a definite vitamin deficiency, there is no point in getting your vitamins in this way. Eating a balanced diet is cheaper and better.

Q—Does vitamin E help to prevent miscarriages when taken during pregnancy? Does it increase fertility in men? Is too much of this vitamin harmful?

A—Although prevention of miscarriage and increased fertility in men have been attributed to vitamin E, there is no firm evidence that the vitamin does either of these things. It is believed to be of some value in the treatment of some forms of anemia, especially in infants, and in the treatment of cystic fibrosis, also in infants. No cases of poisoning from large doses of this vitamin have been reported.

Q—Why would a woman of 65 years talk aloud to herself when she thinks she is alone? Is this a sign of a mental disease?

A—Talking to oneself is the most normal thing in the world and should be encouraged. Most persons who do this are lonely and talking to themselves, far from being a sign of a mental disease, helps to keep them from going crazy.

Q—Does a person always have sores in the mouth if there are syphilis germs in his saliva? Are gonorrhea germs ever found in the saliva? Will vitamin C prevent venereal disease?

A—If syphilis germs are present in the saliva, they must come from the superficial painless ulcers of the secondary stage of syphilis. The gonococcus that causes gonorrhea is not found in the saliva. Vitamin C will neither prevent nor cure any venereal disease.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Jakarta Gets Many Showy Buildings

EDITOR'S NOTE — The writer of this dispatch was for 18 months AP correspondent in Indonesia. Last week he was expelled from the country by President Sukarno, along with other correspondents of American news media.

By ANTOINE YARED
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — A modern 10-story department store has just been completed in Jakarta's main street. Nearby a 29-story office building is under construction. Opposite is the luxurious 15-floor Hotel Indonesia.

These tall buildings seem like strange icebergs surrounded by a sea of slums and dilapidated streets.

Jakarta is Indonesia's capital city, with a population of three million, but in many respects it looks like a worn-down village.

President Sukarno ordered monuments and high buildings despite the country's need of more urgent projects — such as housing.

Sukarno maintains that these showy pieces of construction are needed to present Indonesia's greatness.

His hard-pressed people accepted the argument.

But lately thousands of students have demonstrated in Jakarta streets to protest against soaring prices of essential commodities. They criticized the policies of "the great leader of the Indonesian revolution," as Sukarno likes to call himself.

Day after day, the students — with the tacit approval of the army which is engaged in a power struggle with Sukarno — shouted:

"We need rice — not monuments and big buildings!"

The students even scribbled on the walls:

"No more imports of wives and concubines."

Sukarno's third wife is a Japanese.

Sukarno, in an angry speech, denounced the students' attitude.

"Monuments are equally important as rice!" he shouted. Indonesian critics of Sukarno say that he is unaware of the reality of economic conditions prevailing in the country because his aides don't inform him fully.

Sukarno judges the situation superficially, these critics say, but fails to see what is beneath the surface.

He observed recently: "With

AMMONIA CONVERTOR GOES UP — At Arkla Chemical's Big River Plant near Helena, Ark., this 260-ton cylinder is slowly raised into its final vertical position. The 80-foot high converter, representing the heart of future ammonia production, is 7 feet in diameter with walls 6 inches thick. When in operation, it will combine pure hydrogen and nitrogen gas, which when reacting to a catalyst, forms ammonia. Two specially designed gantry towers, 140 feet tall, frame this construction view. The tank will hold 20,000 tons of ammonia at minus 28 degrees F.

my own eyes I saw ordinary Indonesian people buying flowers in preparation for the Moslem feast of Idu Ilfitri. This alone is enough proof to kill propaganda that the Indonesia people are poor."

The critics say Sukarno does not realize how rising prices of essential commodities are hitting the low-income Indonesians.

With the recent increase in their salaries, an average civil servant gets about 50,000 old rupiahs monthly. He has allowances for rice and some food-stuffs, but sometimes these are not enough to meet the needs of a large family.

One liter of rice has shot to 5,000 old rupiahs. It cost $310 last June. A shirt costs 30,000, a pair of shoes 45,000.

The gap between rich and the poor is enormous. A middle class is practically nonexistent. Corruption in the government is widespread and is adopted by many civil servants to meet the increasing cost of living. Profiteers take advantage of the situation to amass fortunes.

At the plush Hotel Indonesia, an Indonesian businessman was seen paying three million old rupiahs for a dinner party.

"It will take at least 10 years for one Indonesian employee to make that amount from his monthly salary," remarked a foreigner at a nearby table.

Most of the shops in Jakarta are depleted. The goods have either been sold or are being hoarded by merchants.

Wide-eyed Indonesians stand in front of the still-empty 10-story department store and wonder what will fill it and who will be able to afford the goods in it.

Sukarno has envisioned making Indonesia a prosperous country in his lifetime. But instead of concentrating on developing and tapping Indonesia's enormous natural resources, he has embarked on repeated political ventures as a way of giving Indonesia a leading place among the world's great nations.

In his recently published autobiography, Sukarno says Indonesians inherited a broken-down country from the Dutch colonizers 20 years ago. Sukarno recounts that the Dutch before leaving wrecked the palace of the former Dutch governor general which he now uses as his presidential mansion. The furniture was broken, the glass windows and the mirrors, and even the door locks were smashed, Sukarno says.

Over the years, Sukarno beautifully repaired his palace.

But he has failed to repair his country.

State Trying to Prove Pair Were Lovers

By ARTHUR EVERETT
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The state of Florida has promised to prove that Mrs. Candace Mossler and her nephew as illicit lovers designed the murder of her husband, multi-millionaire Jacques Mossler. Now the prosecution is promising to make good its pledge.

"He asked about someone to make a hit . . . bump someone off . . . it was worth $10,000," said one witness about the nephew, Melvin Lane Powers. A second added, "Mr. Mossler knew about him and Mrs. Mossler."

In hard-bitten tones Monday, the pair etched a chilling picture of Mrs. Mossler and Powers shopping about for two years to hire themselves a killer, raising the fee when it seemed in order.

The first-degree murder trial in the sixth-floor Dade County circuit courtroom resumes today with one of the alleged killer-for-hire candidates, Edward Bart Diehl, back briefly on the witness stand.

Mossler, 69, head of a $33-million bank and loan empire, was beaten and stabbed to death June 30, 1964, in his Key Biscayne apartment while his wife was absent. The state claims that when no killer could be hired, Powers undertook to do the job with Mrs. Mossler's connivance.

Mrs. Mossler, an attractive blonde who professes 39 years of age, and Powers, a tall handsome 29, with dark, deep-set eyes, are on trial for their lives.

First on the witness stand Monday was Freddie Duhart, 40, a Negro, round-faced behind dark glasses. He said he was working at a Houston service station when he first met Powers about four weeks before the Mossler slaying. Houston is Powers' home.

They fell into a conversation, Duhart said, during which they discussed "crime in general." "He asked about someone to make a hit . . . bump someone off . . ." continued Duhart, who admitted two unspecified convictions. "I was offered $3,500 to make a hit."

"By whom," Duhart was asked.

"By Powers," replied the witness. "He said he wanted a hit made . . . a guy knocked off."

A week later, the conversation was resumed, Duhart testified, and Powers offered him $10,000, with the target still not named.

By that time Jacques Mossler, described by the defense as a man of weird sexual habits and ruthless business practices, had little more than two weeks left of life. But Duhart testified he turned the proposal down.

Duhart testified on cross examination that he actually advised Powers that maybe someone from Mexico could be hired to make a hit, sneak the body across the border in a car trunk and toss it into a dormant volcano or somewhere else where it could never be found.

"Did you tell him you had done that on occasion?" the witness was asked by Powers' attorney, Percy Foreman.

"No, man," Duhart replied.

Volcano in Italy Erupts
CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — Mt. Etna erupted today and hurled a cloud of ashes more than 400 yards into the sky.

A flow of fiery lava lapped down the mountainside from cracks near the crater. There was no immediate danger to villages on the lower slopes.

Seismograph stations said a minor earthquake triggered the eruption. Etna erupts frequently.

Wedding Vows

PRAIRIE GROVE — The wedding of Miss Jacklyn Pritchett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pritchett, and Ronnie McMillan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McMillan of Nashville, was solemnized at 3 p.m. January 1 in Prairie Grove First Christian Church. A reception was held in the church.

Rev. Robert W. Hughey officiated. Mrs. Robert Brown was organist, and Mrs. Eddie McCellan was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of candlelight peau de soie and Alencon lace fashioned in an empler style with a chapel train which fell from the shoulders. Her illusion veil was held by a pearl tiara, and she carried a bouquet of narcissus blossoms centered with orchids.

Miss Kay Vandiver was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Susan Pritchett, sister of the bride, and Miss Juane Bell. Miss Dana Christman and Miss Charla Knowles were flower girls.

Bob Leopoldus of Denver, Col. was best man. Ushers were Gerald Geels of Subiaco, Johnny Blakemore of Nashville and Terry Dees. Brian Christman lighted the candles.

After a trip the couple will reside in Russellville, where they both are students at Arkansas Polytechnic College.

Mrs. McMillan is the granddaughter of Mrs. H. O. Green of Hope.

The Trouble With Fathers . . .
Dear Helen: I've read of a lot of mother problems in your column, but, compared to mine, they're small. At our house we have a Big Papa who is breaking up the family fast.

He uses such bad language that when I ask God to forgive him I start crying. He threatens to ruin my Christmas presents if I talk more than five minutes on the phone. I'm 15, but can't even think of boys or he'll shave my head so they won't look at me. He already cut my bangs to stubs.

Threatens to throw me out. He argues with my mother, he has already told me plainly that he hates me and I'm the cause of all the trouble between them. He has hurt my mother most of all, calling her dirty names, and taking interest in a neighbor's wife who is half his age.

My mother won't divorce him because of her religion. Not a word gets out about the awful things he does, but he is turning everyone in the family against each other. I have even thought of suicide, and got as far as the medicine cabinet but remembered it was a sin.

I could live with my Godmother but that would be selfish because I'd be leaving my mother and two brothers to suffer. Helen, what can I do? — S.T.

Dear S.: Sometimes two people in a family can strike such sparks that the only remedy is removal of them. If your parents consent (and I think they will), why not try living with your Godmother for six months? Getting away will do wonders for YOU, and it might even help to straighten out "Big Papa." — H.

Dear Helen: My father says no matter when we have dinner, early or late, my friends always manage to telephone, and I tell him it's because that's the only time of day kids are free: from 5 to 6:30. Before then they are on their way home from school or doing chores and after that they have to study. Besides if I tell my friends to call before 5:30 — That's the night we have an early dinner, and if I tell them to call at 6:30, that's when Mom has had a big day and dinner is late.

Well, for a week, there weren't any phone calls during dinner, and I thought maybe my friends had got the right combination, until my Dad started laughing about it. He'd sneaked

Judgment Against Store Overturned

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court reversed today a $2,070 judgment awarded to a Hot Springs girl in a false arrest suit against Safeway Stores Inc.

Circuit Judge P. E. Dobbs of Hot Springs refused to instruct the jury that the finding of unpurchased goods concealed on one's person was prima facie evidence of willful concealment. Dobbs omitted the word "willful" in his instructions to the jury.

J. A. Gross filed the suit for his daughter, Karen, asking damages for false arrest, slander, assault and battery. Karen testified that she got a lipstick and some mascara in the store in December 1963 and was waiting to pay for it when an employee marched her to the store office.

Karen said that the items were visible at all times. Store employees testified she had put the lipstick in her pocket.

The Supreme Court sent the case back for another trial. The Supreme Court also affirmed a Sebastian Circuit Court order upholding the results of a 1964 election in the Mansfield School District.

Clifford Lewelling and others filed suit to invalidate the election in which a 50-mill school tax was approved by a 267-307 vote. The suit contended that the ballot was not clear and that election officials failed to provide enough ballots so that everyone could vote in Dayton and Prairie townships where opposition to the tax was strong.

The Supreme Court said that almost everyone in the two townships finally got to vote. "We must accordingly find that the results of the election were not affected by the irregularities practiced," the court said. In other cases, the Supreme Court:

— Ordered a new trial of a suit in which Russel Pomtreg was awarded a $15,000 judgment against Rex Johns and others because of the traffic accident death of a relative whose car struck a cow.

The Supreme Court said that Woodruff Circuit Court erred in allowing the plaintiff's attorney to tell the jury that the defendant had added a third strand of barbed wire to a fence after the accident.

— Reversed a Ouachita Chancery Court ruling that a $35,000 land sale contract executed by J. L. Holt to Robert C. Ames was enforceable.

— Affirmed a Union Chancery Court order cancelling an oil lease on 20 of 40 acres leased by E. B. Patterson and others to William R. Wood and others.

— Ordered White Circuit Court to try a case in which Ben F. Hill was awarded a $9,990 default judgment against William G. Jenkins of Weatherford, Tex., for injuries suffered when Hill was struck by Jenkins' car in Bald Knob on grounds that Jenkins did not have a sufficient notice of the suit.

— Affirmed a Craighead Chancery Court ruling that the estate of Richard Isaac Phillips, who died Feb. 25, 1963, is entitled to a $4,000 certificate of deposit held jointly by Phillips and his sister, Mrs. Mamie Robertson, and that Mrs. Robertson is entitled to $646.50 from a joint account in a Troy, Kan., bank.

Duke Upset by West Virginia by 4 Points

By E DSCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

To play or not to play — that was the question. And there just wasn't any answer to Duke's Blue Devils.

Monday night, Duke saw its 13-game winning streak halted by West Virginia, 94-90.

Today, the Blue Devils find themselves second in The Associated Press weekly poll after occupying the top spot for eight straight weeks.

But it was idleness, not West Virginia, that knocked Duke out of first place. The poll was based on performance through last Saturday, and Duke was idle last week while unbeaten Kentucky, now No. 1, won three times.

Kentucky won its 18th straight Monday night by defeating Florida 85-75. The only other member of the Top Ten to see action was No. 9 Nebraska, an 85-81 winner over Oklahoma.

"I would like to have had a game in the past week, but what difference it would have made I don't know," said Duke Coach Vic Bubas after the loss at Charleston, W.Va.

Duke, now 15-2, started off as if it would run the Mountaineers (15-5) right off the court, building up a 31-12 margin. But the Blue Devils led only 45-42 at halftime.

Then in the second half Duke lost center Mike Lewis on fouls and ran smack into inspired play by West Virginia's "Gang-busters," three defensive specialists used by Coach Bucky Waters, a Bubas assistant for six years before this season.

"After I switched to my gang-busters (John Cavacini, Ron Williams and Gerry Shaffer) the press seemed to hurt them some," Waters said.

John Lesher scored 28 points for West Virginia, including the field goal that put them ahead to stay with 2:57 left. Lewis and Bob Verga scored 25 each for Duke.

Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp said after his Wildcats' sluggish but winning home-court performance, "I don't know any team that played three games in one week like we did and won by as decisive margins as we did, but I'm afraid I had a bunch of tired boys tonight."

Kentucky led 42-34 at halftime and increased its margin to 17 points late in the second half to coast home in the Southeastern Conference game. Pat Riley scored 24 points, Louie Dampier 18 and Thad Jaracz 17 for Kentucky.

Nebraska had to stave off a late-game surge for its road victory over Oklahoma. Tom Back scored 25 points for the victors, now 15-2.

In another big game, Illinois missed a chance to tie Michigan State and Michigan for the Big Ten lead by losing at home, 80-77 to Northwestern. The Illini now are 5-2 in league play.

In other action, UCLA walloped Washington 89-67, North Carolina thrashed South Carolina 104-70, Tennessee trounced Georgia 100-71, Wisconsin nipped Indiana 79-78, Purdue downed Iowa 66-58, Kansas State beat Oklahoma State 50-44, Colorado bested Missouri 65-60, Army walloped Bucknell 84-38, and small-college leader Southern Illinois was upset 65-61 by unranked Tennessee State.

Demonstrations in Singapore

SINGAPORE (AP) — More than a thousand students staged demonstrations Thursday at the U.S. and Communist Chinese embassies in Jakarta, reports from the Indonesian capital said.

The Indonesian news agency Antara said the students arrived at the U.S. Embassy aboard 40 trucks, demonstrated against the resumption of air raids on North Viet Nam and handed Ambassador Marshall Green a protest note.

Antara said students then rode to the Chinese Embassy but were rebuffed in efforts to deliver a note accusing Peking of harboring Indonesian Communists accused by the army of masterminding the Oct. 1 attempted coup.

Alabama Is Penalized for Rule Violation

By JIM PURKS
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The University of Alabama, national college football champion the past two years, has been penalized by the Southeastern Conference for using two ineligible players in freshman games last fall.

Commissioner Bernie Moore ordered the school — perennial producer of football powerhouses under Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant — to limit its grants to incoming football players next fall to 33, two less than normally allowed.

Alabama President Dr. Frank A. Rose said Monday in Tuscaloosa that the school regrets the violation. He said it stemmed from a misinterpretation of rules, and that he is writing an apology to presidents of SEC schools.

"The University of Alabama deeply regrets the misunderstanding, whereby more than 40 freshmen who were receiving financial assistance played in conference freshman football games last fall," Rose said.

Moore said an investigation showed Alabama permitted 42 new football players on financial aid to participate in freshman football games.

No recruiting violation occurred, Moore said. He said he interpreted Alabama's action as an infraction of Article XIV, Section 4 E of the SEC by-laws.

"The investigation revealed that an assistant coach at Alabama had contacted a member of my staff, seeking an interpretation, prior to the participation of these extra football players. It was evident to me that there was a misunderstanding resulting from this conversation, and the players were subsequently allowed to play in freshman games," Moore said.

Conference rules allow member schools to award 40 football scholarships to new payers every year. If a youth on an academic scholarship, joins the squad and plays in a game, the 40-player participation limit is exceeded and a violation has occurred, Moore said.

The commissioner said players on academic scholarships can practice and work out with the team but once they play in a game they count toward the 40-player limit.

Announcement of the penalty was made Monday afternoon in Moore's office in Birmingham.

Alabama's 1965 season was ended by a 17-10 loss to Texas Tech in the Cotton Bowl. The team finished with a 10-4 record.

Allen Leads Win or AM&N Five

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Robert Allen's 45 points led Arkansas AM&N to a 120-117 double overtime basketball victory over Jackson State here Monday night.

The score was tied 97-all at the end of regulation, and 106-all after the first overtime.

Arkansas State is 2-3 in Southland standings and Lamar Tech is 2-2.

Kentucky Has Edged Duke in Cage Poll

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Duke found out today that it does not pay not to play.

The Blue Devils, who have held the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press major-college basketball rankings for eight consecutive weeks, dropped into second place today as unbeaten Kentucky moved to the top for the first time this season.

And chances are Kentucky's three impressive victories coupled with Duke's seven days of idleness — brought about the flip-flop.

Duke now has played only one game in the last three weeks. The first two weeks were taken up by mid-year exams but the third week was simply a case of not being able to schedule a game.

"We tried very hard to shift dates and arrange a game for this week," said Duke Coach Vic Bubas, "but we just couldn't do it. We've practiced daily, but there's nothing like playnig."

The voters apparently saw it that way too with the Wildcats drawing 20 first-place votes and 341 points from a select panel of sportswriters and sportscasters voting in The AP poll. Kentucky brought its record to 17-0 by beating Alabama 82-62, Vanderbilt 106-90 and Georgia 74-50 last week.

Duke, which finally got into action Monday night, showed the voters a 151 record through Saturday's games and received 12 first-place votes and 304 points.

And in Monday night's game, the Blue Devils' 13-game winning streak was halted by West Virginia, 94-90.

The voting, with records through Saturday, and points:

1. Kentucky 17-0 ..... 341
2. Duke 15-1 ..... 304
3. Chicago Loyola ..... 210
4. Texas Western 16-0 ..... 205
5. Vanderbilt 16-3 ..... 177
6. Providence 15-1 ..... 17
7. Kansas 15-3 ..... 117
8. St. Joseph's, Pa. 15-4 ..... 10
9. Nebraska 14-2 ..... 60
10. Michigan 12-5 ..... 33

Kentucky Gets Big Lift From the Life of Riley

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Pat Riley was always the baby of the family.

Some baby! He stands 6-3 and has shoulders like a truck bulging through a side street in the garment center.

Pat is the leading scorer, rebounder and all-purpose man of the undefeated Kentucky basketball team.

Lee Riley remembers Pat as "kind of an awkward kid who liked to skate, swim and run—he discovered basketball late." Lee is the oldest of the four Riley brothers who come out of Schenectady, N.Y.

The last time they got together was at Christmas vacation a couple of years ago, and they went down to an empty basketball court at one of the General Electric buildings (G.E. is big in Schenectady). They played two-on-two—Lee and Butchie, who stands 6-4 and weighs 210, against 6-4 Lenny, who was a varsity star at Florida Southern, and Pat.

The Rileys are quite a family. Lee Sr. was in organized baseball for 23 years as an outfielder in the St. Louis Cardinal system. He advanced to a quick cup of coffee with the Philadelphia Phillies and ended up as a playing manager in the Phillies' organization.

Lee Jr. played some basketball at Detroit, but football was his sport. He was a six-year man in the National Football League as a defensive back with the Detroit Lions, Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants, then wound up his career in 1962 by leading the American Football League in interceptions for the New York Titans.

Young Pat Riley, 12 years younger at 20, never touched football until his senior year at Linton High School in Schenectady and made all-city. But he also scored 1,000 points as a high school basketball All-American, and Baron Adolph Rupp plucked him for Kentucky on a scholarship, competing with 100 other bidders.

Couple of years Pat came home and said to Lee, "You see all that bonus money they're giving to quarterbacks now? I'm sorry I didn't keep my hand in it."

There's even a chance he might try it next fall in his senior season. Meanwhile, there's a lot of basketball to be played. In his debut as a sophomore a year ago, Pat was voted the Most Valuable Player trophy from the Wildcats and later got another tin cup as a "110 Percenter."

"He's a young Tom Gola," says big brother Lee, referring to the former LaSalle great, "—except he also scores."

Baron Rupp plays him at forward, but despite his lack of height he is moved into the pivot post occasionally. While the Wildcats have breezed along unbeaten, Pat has jumped his scoring production from 15 points a game last year to 23 and, significantly, is also second on the team in assists.

There's only one thing he hasn't accomplished. And won't. In those two-on-two games back in Schenectady he never did manage to beat Lee.

"I had the advantage of the older brother," says Lee, with a twinkle, "—they're never quite sure they can take you."

The way Pat has grown up, Lee never intends to give him another chance now.

REPEAT PERFORMANCE—Eddie Matthews has been repeating this scene regularly since he broke in with the Boston Braves back in 1952. He's the only member of the Boston team still on the Braves' roster.

Jones Third Candidate for Congress

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Auditor Jimmie (Red) Jones, 45, became Monday the third Democrat to file as a candidate for U. S. Representative from Arkansas' 4th District.

Jones, state auditor for nine years, said he would open a campaign headquarters in his hometown of Magnolia and possibly another in some other city.

Other Democrats who have filed in the race to succeed former Rep. Oren Harris, now a federal judge, are state Rep. David Pryor, 31, of Camden and Richard Arnold, 29, of Texarkana.

Jones said he expects the younger candidates in the race to argue that the state would profit by electing a younger man who could accumulate seniority in Washington.

"I consider myself a young man," Jones said.

He predicted that Viet Nam probably will be the major issue in the campaign. He said, however, that he was not ready to state his position on Viet Nam or other issues.

Jones said he plans to campaign in the 28 counties of the old 4th District picked by the Democratic Party for the special election. Republicans are holding their Congressional primary in the 20 counties of the new 4th District. A suit has been filed to determine which area is legal for the election.

'Mayor' Torres Plots Clay's Fall

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The only thing heavyweight champion Cassius Clay has on light heavyweight champion Jose Torres is size.

Burgin

Otherwise, Torres thinks he is a bigger man. He believes he can take Clay's heavy-weight title away from him, even though Clay is five inches taller, 35 pounds heavier and has a reach 10 inches longer.

He offers an impressive argument, peppering his rhetoric with just enough humility and earnestness to make his strong opinions sound reasonable.

"In the first place," said Torres, "I have more experience. It is very clear that I can think on my feet. It is clear that he can't."

"He is a good puncher, but not a great one. For my size I have a strong punch, good enough to mix with any heavyweight."

"Clay is fast, but I am twice as fast. His legs are getting thick. He slows down to a walk in the late rounds."

"If we fought, I would do what Floyd Patterson should have done. I would get inside, where his long reach and his height advantage would be equalized."

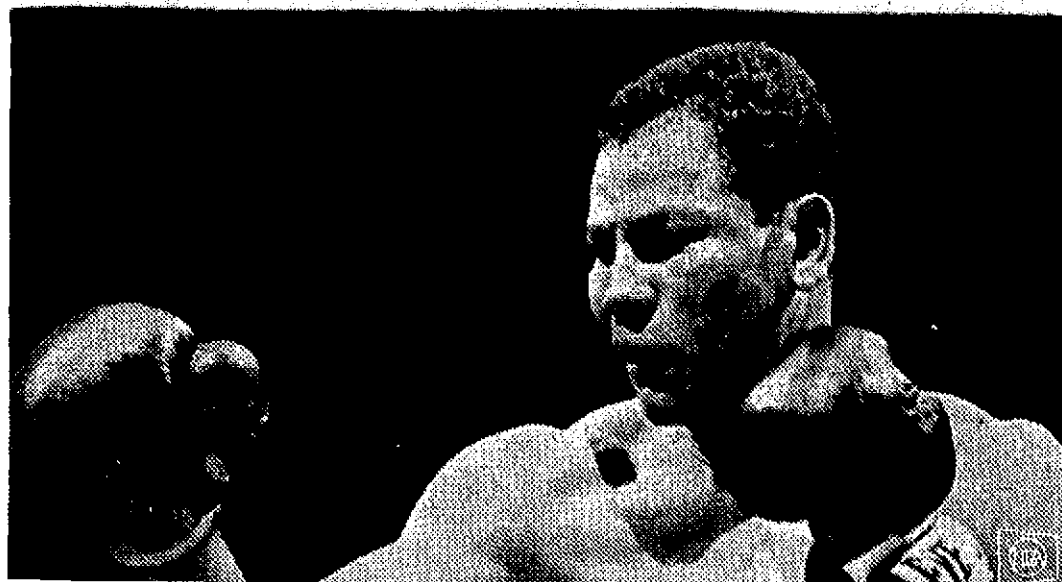

"Then I would punch him silly. I would win on points. Clay would be confused and ineffective against me."

"It is all very plain to see." Torres' manager is Jose Torres. About boxing, he has the final say on everything. His "advisor" is Cus D'Amato, who favors a Clay-Torres fight to the extent that now he is trying to set one up for "sometime within the next year or so."

Said D'Amato, "Torres' reasoning is quite sound. This is the way he can beat Clay—by outthinking and outboxing him."

"It is a question of courage and will," Cus said. "Look at the difference. Somebody has had to push Clay and make decisions for him all his life. 'Jose has guts and will as well as talent. Sixty per cent of a fighter's success is determined by will. Jose wants to beat Clay, and this he'll do if they give us a fight.'"

Clay, so far, has only joked about the proposal. "But," said D'Amato, "I think Clay's crowd has us in mind after they beat another second-rate heavyweight."

JOSE TORRES

"Clay would be confused and ineffective."

"They know we could fill Yankee Stadium. Jose could fill any stadium with his Puerto Rican following alone."

It all sounds good. Certain facts, however, detract from Torres' contention.

For one thing, he is 29. He has only fought once since he knocked out Willie Pastrano for the title last March. That was last fall when he won a nontitle split-decision from heavyweight Tom McNeely, the only heavy he has overy fought.

Then Torres contracted yellow jaundice, which put him in the hospital for three weeks and out of action for three months. "The doctors have now given me the green light," Torres said.

He has been ordered to pick a light-heavyweight division opponent within three weeks. It most likely will be either Wayne Thornton or Bob Foster, both solid contenders.

"I do not talk idly," Torres said. He quotes Henry David Thoreau—"Build your castle in the sky, but put a foundation under it."

"I have the confidence; I have that foundation. My father has taught me to set big goals and do my own thinking."

Torres is from a well-to-do family in San Juan. In New York, he is the unofficial "mayor" of Spanish Harlem. He is an accomplished singer. He has extensive real estate holdings in Brooklyn. He took part in John Lindsay's campaign.

"Someday," Torres said, "I want to run for mayor of New York."

After Clay, of course.

Photosprint Device for '68 Olympics Will Take Pictures of Time Passing.

New device confirms winner and time.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK—(NEA)—They won't miss a moment at the races in the 1968 Olympic Games at Mexico City.

Olympic officials plan to triple-check and record the times and finishers in all the events, from bicycles to sprints, with a new gadget called the Photosprint, developed by Omega in Switzerland.

The machine does two jobs in one—photographs the finishers as they cross the line and times them as well. It concentrates only on the finish-line and everything that crosses it. Through a vertical slit measuring 1/10th of a millimeter, aimed at the width of the track, it photographs the most minute action at the end of the race as it takes place for each participant.

For example, in the 100-meter dash the machine catches first the runner's toe, then heel, leg, arms and torso as he hits the tape, continuing the process for the second, third and fourth runners until they have all passed.

Meanwhile, an electronic quartz timer, rigged to the photo mechanism, projects the runner's time in luminous digits onto the bottom of the finish line photograph.

The timer electronically sends the film past the pupil of the camera at a speed corresponding to that of each runner.

The negative is ready for viewing 30 seconds after the race, by dropping a vertical line from the runner's torso to the timing scale on the bottom, times can be read off and the order of finish pictorially verified.

If two or more runners are separated by only a hundredth of a second, the Photosprint not only records it, but shows it.

Snowmobile Safari

By WM. TAYLOR MCKEOWN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

ASPEN, COLO.—(NEA)—Twenty-two years ago, the goal of their winter sport was to stay alive in the snow.

Pete Seibert, Bob Parker and John Wix were training for combat with the 10th Mountain Division at Camp Hale, high in the Rockies of Colorado. Over 1,000 from that famous division are war casualty names on a marble plaque near Camp Hale, now another ghost town up where the hills are snowbound six months every year.

Pete, Bob and John came back from the war, but they didn't go home again. The mountains had got them. They returned to the tiny town of Aspen, near their training slopes, to teach skiing. Wix stayed on in Aspen while Seibert and Parker crossed the Continental Divide to found another famous ski resort named Vail.

"In the Army we'd learned you don't have to be afraid of the cold," Parker recalls. "With good instruction and equipment you can tackle the highest, coldest hills and enjoy magnificent snow scenery along the way."

To prove it, Seibert and Parker have just tried a test safari with the newest gadget for mechanized mountain climbing. It's called the snowmobile—a 14-horsepower motorscooter with skis in front and a little revolving track under the seat. Driving is like ski-schussing sitting down. The gadget will climb hills or run 30 miles an hour through deep powder snow.

"Kneel on the seat to run it," Parker recommends, "or sit down if you're brave. Steer with the handlebars but lean your body into turns on a slope as if you're skiing."

For graduation of their first snowmobile class after only an afternoon of instruction, Seibert and Parker led a group of 25 of us on a 90-mile, two-day trek. Up we motored from the drifts at Vail's 8,200 feet, up through snow squalls in the thin air to the 13,000-foot mountain ridgepole that divides the Atlantic and Pacific watersheds. Our machines crossed the Continental Divide five times in all, with an overnight stop 10,000 feet up at Leadville, the nation's highest city.

Even at 14,000 elevation, the machines and drivers gasped along without any trouble. Then from the top of Independence Pass we bucked drifts down 4,000 feet to Aspen and a welcome from John Wix and Buzz Bainbridge of the famous ski center.

Snowmobiles aren't going to replace skis for sportsmen or soldiers, ex-trooper Pete Seibert decided after the run.

"But they should open up the high snowfields to supervised tour groups," according to Pete, "where you can safely explore areas only a few mountaineers have ever seen in the winter before."

Rattle Cousy

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Bob Cousy the coach paced nervously in the locker room hallway while his Boston College players dressed for the game.

It would have been strange behavior for Bob Cousy, the player.

"Once in a while I got scared as a player," Cousy said. "But it was never like this, believe me."

This is Cousy's third year as BC's basketball coach. His team was 10-11 the first year, 22-7 with an appearance in the National Invitation Tournament the second.

He figures to do as well or better this season. He has All-America guard candidate John Austin. He has height and speed. He has a sophomore crop that went 20-0 as freshmen.

It would seem, then, that Cousy is finding his way as a coach, that he is settling into his job quite comfortably behind his experience, knowledge and name.

But he isn't.

"It gets nightmarish sometimes," he said. "My brain starts working out set plays and defenses and I wake up in the middle of the night."

"I get surprised every game. I am increasingly amazed at what it's like to see basketball from a coach's seat on the bench."

"I can feel the pressure to win and to have my kids perform well. I can see that we're doing all right, but I can't really feel it like I do the pressure."

"There must be — I must find — a balance here or I'm going to end up like I did after last season."

In the hospital for a week. "I kept getting these chest pains toward the end of the season. The doctors couldn't find anything. They finally concluded it was just nerves, which might have been a polite way of telling me I was a hypochondriac."

Boston Celtics' coach Red Auerbach, for whom Cousy did everything a backcourt pro can do in 13 seasons, suggested to Cousy that he "let off a little steam now and then" to ease the tension.

"Red knows whereof he speaks," Cousy laughed. "But that's not my temperament. I'll have to learn another way."

"Oh, I do get emotional now and then—especially if I see a kid isn't performing up to his ability."

Cousy said the technicalities of coaching also bothered him last year. This year he has farmed out scouting, scheduling and planning duties to his two assistants, Jack Magee and Frank Power.

"This has helped some," he said. "We are at least organized off the court, if not on."

He recalled an overtime game last year in which BC needed a basket to tie with only a few seconds left.

"We called time and set up this brilliant play. Austin was supposed to be doubled-teamed. We were supposed to score when Austin passed off to the free man."

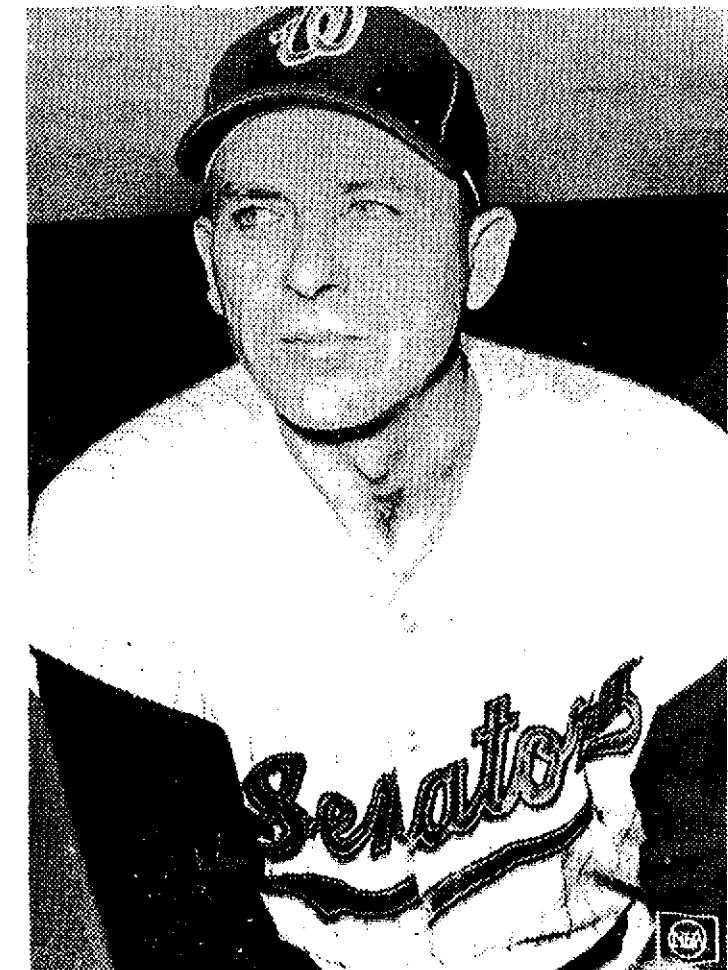

"Only they didn't double-team Austin and we lost."

In BC's next close game, Cousy said he again began to set up an elaborate scoring play. But Austin interjected, "Just let me have the ball, coach, I'll put it in."

Which is what Austin did.

Coach of Fairfield U. Rests His Case

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

FAIRFIELD, Conn.—(NEA)—The campus that is Fairfield University sits snugly on a wooded knoll overlooking an inviting little New England town.

The only things missing are pert and swooning coeds (Fairfield is a Jesuit school) and a campus hangout called Pop's Malt Shop.

Everything else is there.

A painted-up jalopy. Rigid academics. That old school spirit. A friendly hard-driving basketball coach who has come up with the team he always dreamed about. And a name like Fairfield.

"All we need now," said coach, athletic director and town lawyer George Bisacca, "is a little attention. For us that won't be easy, even if we do win the big ones on the road."

Perfect. That completes the picture. A Chip Hilton novel couldn't paint it any better. The burning question: Can Fairfield clobber State U. in the big game and win a berth in the National Invitational Tournament?

"In some ways it is presumptuous even to think about the NIT," Bisacca said. "Then again, why not? Others have done it."

In 1950, "little" Dayton magically got into the NIT but hardly went home in a pumpkin. The Flyers finished second, established a national name and haven't had any scheduling problems since.

Fairfield is 12-1 this season. The schedule looks as if it was put together the day before the season opened.

It has names like Acadia, Bridgeport and Stonehill mixed in with Boston College, St. Joseph's, Providence, Massachusetts, Georgetown, Xavier, Villanova, St. Bonaventure, Niagara, Duquesne and Holy Cross.

"I know it's a minor miracle for us to have schools like that on our schedule. We've had to beg for some of them," Bisacca said.

"Actually, it has got so that the name basketball schools are all we can turn to. In my seven years here my record is 104-63. To be perfectly honest, I think it could have been 167-0 if I kept scheduling the teams we used to play."

"But we get good boys here. What's the sense of going after games you can win by 40 points?"

Some of his old opponents agree. They began dropping Fairfield from their schedules.

"We were losing two or three teams a year. Even Fordham dropped us. I don't know why, unless it had something to do with our winning three out of four from them."

Bisacca took Fairfield out of the Tri-State league. In one stretch the Stags won 29 straight league games, which is an NCAA small college record.

"This left us in the middle," Bisacca said. "So we shot the works and went for the name schools. That's one of the objects of this game, isn't it—beat the best?"

The caliber of player Bisacca gets also is something of a minor miracle. The school usually gives only two or three basketball scholarships a year.

"I seldom try to recruit the high school All-American," he said. "I go after the guy who fed the high school All-American."

His center is 6-3 soph Art Kenny, who played high school ball with Lew Alcindor, the 7-1 wonder on the UCLA freshman team.

"Kenny is an excellent ball-handler for a big man," Bisacca said. "Wouldn't you know it—I finally get a 6-8 guy and he wants to play the backcourt."

Bisacca calls 6-3 senior forward Mike Branch "the best leaper in basketball anywhere."

Fairfield opened the season with a loss to St. Joseph's, then started a string of 12 straight by beating Boston College, at Boston, 100-93.

The Stags also beat Xavier, Duquesne and St. Francis (Pa.) on the road. Fairfield still has Villanova, Providence, St. Bonaventure and Georgetown to play on the road.

The road could lead to Madison Square Garden.

"Certainly," said an NIT committee official, "their name won't keep them out."

For the Young

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The average age of the 580 veterans who reported to National Football League training camps in 1965 was 26.9 years. Their average experience was 4.4 years each.

The Baltimore Colts are the oldest team, according to the average (27.1 years per man), and the Washington Redskins are the most experienced (5.2 years).

Staggering Score

What is said to have been the most staggering intercollegiate football defeat in history was when Georgia Tech trounced Cumberland University, 222-0, at Atlanta in 1916.

OH, YOU KID!—Billy Kidd, of Stowe, Vt., has become one of the world's top slalom skiers. Kidd's performances this winter in international competition have brightened U.S. skiing hopes.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in Hempstead County, Arkansas, at which election there will be submitted to the electors the question of issuing Hempstead County, Arkansas General Obligation Industrial Development Bonds under the provisions of Amendment No. 49 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas in an amount not to exceed $222,000 (called "Amendment No. 49 Bonds") for the purpose of furnishing permanent financing of the costs of securing and developing industry (called "bonds").

The bonds will be dated June 1, 1966, interest thereon will be payable semiannually on June 1 and December 1 of each year, commencing December 1, 1966, and the bonds will mature annually on June 1 in each of the years 1969 to 1986, inclusive, but will be subject to redemption prior to maturity upon such terms as shall be specified in the Order of the County Court authorizing their issuance. The particular industrial project will consist of lands, a manufacturing building, improvements and facilities for a plant to be owned by the County and leased to and operated by Missouri Research Laboratories, Inc., a Missouri corporation (called "Research Laboratories"). The bonds will be general obligations of the County to the payment of which the County will pledge its full faith, credit and taxing power, including particularly a one and one-half (1 1/2) mill special continuing annual tax under the provisions of Amendment No. 49. However, as authorized by Amendment No. 49, appropriate provisions will be made in the Order of the County Court authorizing the issuance of the bonds for the suspension of the collection of said tax on an annual basis to the extent of available revenues (including particularly lease rentals under the Lease Agreement with Research Laboratories) derived from the operation of the industrial project. The bonds will be sold at public sale and may be sold with the privilege of conversion to an issue bearing a lower rate or rates of interest.

Only qualified electors of Hempstead County, Arkansas will have the right to vote and the electors may vote either for or against the bonds.

The election will be held between the hours of 8:00 o'clock a. m. and 6:30 o'clock p. m. at the following polling places in Hempstead County, Arkansas, to-wit:

New Methods Being Used on Economy

EDITOR'S NOTE — Can the federal budget really change the economy's course? In the second of four articles, Sam Dawson AP Business News Analyst, tells how the government fiscal policy has been working

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Changing the government's policy from a goal of stimulating a lagging economy to restraining a gogo one isn't always as easy as it sounds, government economists and fiscal experts are using what they call new methods and better understanding of what makes the economy tick.

And they have a big talking point: a five-year record that bears all the outward signs of success.

Using tax cuts and pump priming as pep pills has been tried many times before. Using increased tax collections and tighter money as a curb on speculation has, too. In many instances in the past the government action has lagged so far behind the business cycle as to be of little help, and sometimes a hindrance.

One reason has been that the government policy makers got around to it too late. Another was that Congress took too long to make the changes.

The new economists say they are right on the ball now. And Congress may move fast out of respect for the record of the last five years.

From 1961 to the summer of 1965 the economic and fiscal policies of the government were aimed at building up demand for goods and services and spurring economic growth. More money was pumped into the economy by the government spending than taken out by tax collections.

In 1964 and 1965 taxes were cut for individuals and corporations. It all added up to more money to spend. And all hands spent more. Business boomed and jobs multiplied.

Inflation was avoided for several reasons: As long as unemployment was high, wage demands were moderate and job security the prime union goal. Idle plant facilities kept competition keen and prices down. Automation meant more units of production per man-hour of labor and held costs down. Consumer demand—and confidence—grew along with the economy but there were still enough goods for everyone to buy.

A change became evident last summer. The economy was expanding faster than any one had expected. Idle plant capacity shrank. The jobless rate dropped. Productivity from new equipment wasn't rising as fast as before. Wholesale prices, long stable, started moving up fast. The consumer price index rose sharply toward the end of 1965. And the buildup in the Viet Nam war foretold increased spending, greater demand for materials that go into both military and civilian products, a callup of more youths at the age they enter the labor force.

Trio Escapes Jail at Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Three men who sawed their way out of city jail here early Monday were back in cells by shortly after dark.

The three implicated Mark W. Keller, 17, of Hot Springs, authorities said, and he was charged with aiding the jail-break.

Officers said Keller told them he brought hacksaw blades to the back of the jail Sunday and the men hauled them up on the homemade rope with which they escaped.

They sawed through their cell bars and lowered themselves to the ground with the rope, made from strips of blankets, officers said.

The men were Claude Troglin, 20, who was picked up at a home here; James Robert Probins, 18, picked up as he hitchhiked toward Malvern on Arkansas 270, and Wayne Marshall Long, 21, taken in as he hitchhiked toward Little Rock on U.S. 70.

SNOW FLURRIES, rain and showers form the weather pattern for most of the United States in the forecast today. Only sections on either side of the Rockies and east coast will escape the precipitation. Where it isn't wet, the weather bureau says there'll be little temperature change. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Prisoners to Get Off Weekends

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trust federal prisoners soon will be allowed to spend weekends with their families outside prison walls.

The unprecedented furloughs, federal prisons Director Myrl E. Alexander said today, "will strengthen and maintain family ties."

Under a law enacted by Congress last year, nearly 100 minimum-security prisoners have been left confinement for deathbed visits, funerals and pre-release job interviews.

"These men can now leave prison unescorted to visit the dying," Alexander said in an interview in which he disclosed the extension of the furlough plan. "But how much more important it is to strengthen their ties with the living."

He sees the furlough plan as a "valuable treatment device that can make a major contribution to a man's preparation for the outside world."

Under the new regulations, he said, prisoners will be given 48-hour passes to visit their wives, children, parents "or other responsible members of the immediate family."

If the hometown is too far away to make such visits practical, the prisoners will be allowed to meet relatives in a nearby community.

Except for staying within the limits of the area agreed on in advance — and, of course, staying out of trouble — there will be no restrictions on their activities with their families, Alexander said.

"They can have a meal in a restaurant, stay in a hotel, go to the movies, or go to church together," he said.

Police Glued to Walkie-Talkie

DOVER, N.H. (AP) — Police here are glued to their walkie-talkies these days, listening for an unfamiliar voice.

One of the department's $700 walkie-talkies was lost last week when a patrolman laid it on a mailbox and went out to direct traffic.

Chief Richard Flynn said the man was unable to find it upon his return.

Flynn said the walkie-talkie has value only to police since it operates only on their frequency.

No 4-Man Bobsled Champions

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP) — For the first time in 32 world bobsled events, there will be no four-man champion this year because of the death of a West German driver.

A jury, comprised of officials of the sport, canceled the event Sunday rather than try to complete it Sunday night or later.

Most of the competitors supported the decision, but it was denounced as "hasty and unsportsmanlike" by the organizer of the ill-fated championship.

The action stemmed from the death Saturday night of 26-year-old Anton Pensberger, whose sled missed a curve during the first run down the 1,740-meter ice chute, shot over the rim and crashed into a grove of trees.

Competition continued Saturday night until halfway through the second run when Pensberger's death, the first bobsled fatality at its Alpine resort in four years, was announced. Only nine of 17 sleds made the second run.

The other three members of Pensberger's sled were hospitalized. Brakeman Ludwig Siebert, 27, underwent surgery, and doctors said he was somewhat improved. Helmut Wurzer and Roland Eberhardt were reported out of danger.

Even before the jury met, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and France said they would not continue, leaving Canada, the United States, Britain, Italy, Czechoslovakia and Romania to await the decision.

The jury, in its announcement, mentioned poor track conditions. Early in the day warm weather had opened a wide crack in one of the chute's 16 curves.

However, the executive committee of the Cortina Bobsled Club, organizer of the event, contended the chute was in good enough condition to go on.

But contestants praised the jury's decision. Italy, which was first and second in the standings when competition was halted, proposed that four gold medals be presented to Germany — one in Pensberger's memory and one to each of his crewmen.

Meeting Wasn't Very Cordial

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Larry Seiler of Wauseon, Ohio, met his uncle, Donald, on a highway near this town in western Pennsylvania. Only it wasn't a cordial meeting. Their cars collided.

Larry was driving to Erie, Pa., and Donald, of Pettiesville, Ohio, was headed home from Buffalo, N.Y.

Neither knew the other was in Pennsylvania.

Donald's wife suffered bruises in the crash.

Still No Progress in Cabinet Choice

ROME (AP) — Premier-designate Aldo Moro appeared to be on a blind alley today in his talks to put a new Cabinet together. President Giuseppe Saragat urged him to hold on while Saragat tried to sort things out with leaders of Parliament.

Moro hit an impasse after two days of talks with party chiefs of his center-left coalition. The Socialists, chief partners with Moro's Christian Democrats, remained unbending in their opposition to Moro's Cabinet proposals.

U.S. Picks Up Pictures From Luna 9

WASHINGTON (AP) — An American space official disclosed today the United States has picked up photographs transmitted from the moon by the Soviet spacecraft Luna 9.

The disclosure by Dr. Edward C. Welsh, executive director of the National Aeronautics and Space Council, was the first official word that American technicians as well as those of Great Britain and the Soviet Union have been obtaining the first radio data ever transmitted from the moon.

Welsh told a reporter no decision had been reached on whether the U.S. pictures will be made public. He said he did not know whether they showed the same landscapes as those published by the British and Russians. The photos picked up by the U.S. receiving equipment are being analyzed and evaluated, he added.

"I think it is fairly important for the public to know," Welsh said, "that we don't have to rely completely on Russian statements or British pronouncements in order to find out something about what is going on."

Welsh's disclosure indicates that U.S. space monitoring capabilities are more extensive than generally believed. And the fact that American officials kept the information quiet despite the Soviet and British releases also sheds new light on the secrecy guarding those capabilities.

Editor Graves Is Right - 2 Counties Are Shut Out

Louis Graves, editor and publisher of the Nashville News, finds that Howard county is going to be short-changed in the upcoming congressional election - and it took Louis' piece to wake up this writer to the fact that Hempstead county also will be victimized.

Under redistricting both counties will be switched from the Fourth to the Third congressional district. But it is proposed to include Howard and Hempstead in the voting in the old Fourth district when a successor to Oren Harris will be chosen - although in January 1967 Howard and Hempstead will automatically join the Third district. Under a congressman they will have had no voice in electing.

Talk about taxation without representation - this is the most blatant fraud in the history of universal suffrage!

But since Louis Graves bird-dogged this discovery I'll let him tell the whole story:

Just a Minute, Podnah

(Nashville News)
Somebody, namely the GOP, may be trying to do this county out of a vote on who is to represent us in the national congress, already in session.

Since Representative Oren Harris finally resigned after his court appointment, we have had no voice in national affairs, not even as the Washington session now ponders that unbelievable LBJ budget of $112.8 billion.

Harris' successor, to be elected in special election, will represent the Fourth District as it is now established - that includes this county and some neighbors - until the new districts are activated in January 1967. At that time we will become part of the Third District.

But until then the Harris successor represents the present 28-county district, not the shortened down 20th district that will eventually be the new Third.

Of course by the time we are PERMITTED to select a congressman much of the hassle over Johnson's budget, 14-B and that big swag of state unemployment compensation controls for greedy bureaucratic controls by the Potomac many of the major issues may be settled.

However infinitesimal, we still like our vote counted in Washington.

War Policy Discussed by Leaders

HONOLULU (AP) - President Johnson scheduled an extra meeting today with top leaders of South Viet Nam after reviewing with the military aspects of the war - a war they want intensified.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson would have two meetings during the day with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and other officials of the Saigon government. Only one session was scheduled originally, but Moyers said the talks were going so well Johnson wanted to "keep the momentum."

Moyers did not claim, however, that Johnson and his guests had reached unanimity on all questions. When asked if his were the case, he replied, "I would say there was a great deal of empathy among the participants."

Johnson met for more than three hours Monday night with top members of the Saigon delegation. It was at this session that military strategy and tactics were discussed. The participants included Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Viet Nam, who hinted Sunday he wants more troops.

The mid-Pacific conference was scheduled to wind up today. However, Moyers said he understood there was a possibility the Vietnamese officials might remain in Honolulu until Wednesday.

Moyers was asked if any new directions in the war were discussed at the meeting Monday night in Johnson's hotel suite. He said he could not go into that.

Asked if the Vietnamese had sought a blockade of North Viet Nam's major port, Haiphong, and broader bombing operations in the North, Moyers said the conferees did not talk about specific numbers or types of operations.

Howard Co. Told to End 2-Dist. Method

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Justice Department took aim Monday at eliminating two sets of dual Arkansas school districts covering the same areas and supported by different tax sources.

The department's desegregation suits announced Monday night involve five Arkansas districts, plus two each in Louisiana and South Carolina and one in Alabama.

The Arkansas districts are Childress, Howard County Training School, Nashville, Mineral Springs and Junction City. A suit filed at Fort Smith sought an order abolishing the all-Negro Childress and Howard County Training School districts, and integrating their pupils and teachers into the all-white Nashville and Mineral Springs districts covering the same area.

The government said the Childress and Nashville districts, and the Howard County Training School and Mineral Springs districts cover the same area, with the white districts supported by property taxes from white persons and the Negro districts supported from property taxes paid by Negroes.

Tax revenues in the Nashville-Childress districts amounted to $161.50 per white pupil and only $35.71 per Negro pupil, the department said.

It said all four districts have violated their assurances of compliance with federal non-discrimination policy which they filed with the U.S. Office of Education in pursuit of federal aid.

In the Junction City suit, the department charged school officials with providing Negroes inferior educations.

In all the cases filed Monday, the government demanded desegregation of pupils and faculty in time for the fall term next September.

Watchtower Supervisor Visiting Here

Gerald D. Gizzle, Circuit Supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses has been directed by the Watchtower Bible & Tract Society of Brooklyn, New York, to Hope to visit the local congregation here for one week, according to Eugene Shuster, Presiding Minister of the local group.

Mr. Grizzle's visit will officially start Tuesday evening at 7:25 p.m. The congregations weekly Ministry School and Service Meeting will be held that evening rather than the regularly scheduled time which is Friday 7:30 p.m. Following these two meetings the local members will enjoy a concluding Bible lecture by Mr. Grizzle.

The highlight of the week's activity will be Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. when Mr. Grizzle will speak on the subject, "What to do to Gain Lasting Life in Happiness." A congregation Bible study, using the Watchtower magazine as a system for study and final remarks by Mr. Grizzle will bring the week activity to close.

All meetings during the week will be held at the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, 1712 So. Elm Street.

An Amended Integration Plan Okay

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) - U.S. District Judge Gordon Young approved Monday an amended desegregation plan from West Memphis, letting West Memphis High School admit its first Negroes.

Seven Negroes transferred from the all-Negro Wonder High School after the amended plan provided that Negro pupils could transfer to the white high school for the last semester of the current school year.

The action caused Negroes to drop a suit they brought against the board.

Superintendent O. M. Shultz said the transfer provision was for 11th and 12th graders, but only the seven applied. All are in the 11th grade.

Twenty-seven Negroes are attending elementary schools under the school district's freedom of choice plan.

Ouachita Land Deal Reversed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The state Supreme Court reversed Monday a Ouachita County Chancery Court ruling which directed J. L. Holt to follow through on an option contract to sell a tract of land for $35,000.

The court agreed with Holt's contention that the option contract was not definite enough to be binding. It described the property only as "642 Lincoln" and all the property sought by Robert C. Ames was not designated by that street address, the court said.

The court also observed that the city or state was not mentioned in the description and that the terms of the purchase price were not set out.

Vote Coming on Union Shop Filibuster

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate votes today on an attempt to shut off the union shop filibuster.

Foes of the bitterly disputed bill were confident they would win the test, getting about 50 per cent of the vote. It takes a two-thirds vote to invoke cloture - the term for cutting off debate.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, recovering from an attack of flu, planned to leave his hospital bed to be on hand for the vote at 11 a.m. EST. He has been trying to bring the measure before the Senate since Jan. 24, but has been blocked by the filibustering opponents.

Mansfield has said that if this effort fails he will file another cloture petition immediately and thus force another vote on the issue Thursday.

But if this second attempt also loses, as expected, the bill to repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act is expected to go down the drain for this Congress. The section allows states to outlaw union shop contracts under which covered employees must join the union.

The measure, strongly supported by the AFL-CIO, passed the House last year 221 to 203. President Johnson has endorsed it.

The bill's supporters are confident they can pass it if they can ever get it to a vote. They claim about 54 votes for the legislation out of the 100 in the Senate.

However, the filibuster directed by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has prevented Mansfield even from getting the bill up for discussion on its merits.

Since Jan. 24 a well-organized band of Republicans and Southern Democrats has tied up the Senate on the issue, holding the floor throughout Senate sessions which have run as long as eight hours and preventing any vote.

Today's vote comes automatically one hour after the Senate convenes as a result of a cloture petition filed by Mansfield last Friday.

Here's what the 44-word section 14B says:

"Nothing in this act shall be construed as authorizing the execution or application of agreements requiring membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment in any state or territory in which such execution or applications is prohibited by state or territorial law."

Nineteen states now have such laws. They are: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Arizona, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming.

Federal courts have held that paying dues or offering to pay dues is sufficient to satisfy the legal requirements of a union shop contract.

School Projects Hit $14 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The state Education Department said Monday that 274 Arkansas projects had been approved under Title I of the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The department said it had approved $14,450,052 for projects out of $21.6 million allocated to the state by the act.

Icy Gales in Tokyo Bay Area

TOKYO (AP) - Icy gale winds and rough seas today delayed recovery of wreckage and bodies from the Boeing 727 jetliner which plunked into Tokyo Bay Friday, killing all 133 persons aboard.

Thirteen more bodies were taken from the sunken wreckage today, bringing the total recovered to 43. Three huge salvage cranes were standing by to lift the wreckage when the weather improved. Frogmen located three large segments of the all-Nippon Airways tri-jet at a depth of 60 feet.

The cause of the crash was not known. It was the worst disaster in aviation history involving a single plane and the fourth crash in six months for the Boeing 727. All occurred at night as the planes were preparing to land.

The all-Nippon airliner crashed as it was coming into Tokyo from Chitose, 600 miles to the north. All aboard were Japanese.

Mowery said Saturday that a date had not been set for Butler to start training. Butler is a graduate of Arkansas AMAN at Pine Bluff.

Unprecedented Ruling by Federal Court

By REX THOMAS

MONTGOMERIE, Ala., (AP) - A federal court, in a ruling unprecedented in the nation's history, has ordered Alabama to start putting women on juries in its state courts.

In the same decision Monday, the three-judge panel also found that rural Lowndes County through the years systematically has kept Negroes off its jury rolls. It ordered the practice ended at once.

From another three-judge court came a ruling which may send some out-of-state motorists to jail in Alabama for traffic offenses.

The judges of that panel agreed with a Lowndes County Negro's contention that he cannot be tried on a reckless driving charge by a justice of the peace whose fees come from fines levied in his court.

The Negro who challenged the right of the justice of the peace to try him was one of those whose complaint brought the federal court order to put more Negroes on the jury list. No racial element was injected into the reckless driving case, however; it would apply to white and Negro defendants alike.

Although the panel composed of Judge Richard T. Rives of the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals and District Judges Clarence Aigood and Frank M. Johnson Jr. threw out Alabama's law against women jurors, they said it can remain in effect until June 1967.

That will give the legislature, meeting again in regular session in May of this year, a chance to determine whether jury service for women should be mandatory, as it is for men, or voluntary. The court said that is one of the practical problems the state needs time to work out.

Alabama, where women already serve on federal court juries, is one of three states whose laws keep them off juries in state courts. The others are Mississippi and South Carolina.

In reaching its conclusion, the court said the U. S. Constitution was never intended as a rigid barrier against changing times, but rather as a living document which must be applied to the "legal cases and controversies of contemporary society."

"Jury service," the judges said, "is a form of participation in the processes of government, a responsibility and a right that should be shared by all citizens."

Union Court Ruling Upheld

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The state Supreme Court upheld Monday a Union Chancery Court ruling which allowed E. B. Patterson and others to cancel an oil and gas lease as it affected 20 of the 40 acres involved in the lease.

William R. Wood Jr. and others contended that the right of cancellation affected only 10 acres.

Heavy Fog Shrouds Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Heavy fog shrouded portions of the Midwest early today as warm Gulf air currents flowed across a rapidly melting snow-night hours Monday, hampering pack.

The fog thickened during the transportation and contributing to a heavy toll in highway accidents. Ten persons were killed in Illinois fog accidents. Near Libertyville, Ill., 12 cars were involved in a chain of crashes. Many smashups were caused by school buses stopped on roads.

In outlying sections around Chicago, police reported visibility sharply reduced by fog. Busy Calumet Expressway, police said, had a zero visibility and traffic moved at a crawl.

Reduced visibility grounded aircraft at Lambert-St. Louis Airport during the night.

The Weather Bureau said fog affected large parts of Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio.

Unseasonably warm air kept temperatures in the 50s this morning as far north as northern Missouri and southeast Nebraska. The mercury reached the 60s over southern Oklahoma and east and central Texas.

DeGaulle and Erhard Talk

PARIS (AP) - West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard arrived today and began talks with President Charles de Gaulle on the Common Market and other issues affecting the unity of Western Europe.

French sources said nothing special was coming up at the semi-annual meeting provided for under the French-German friendship pact. Erhard was expected, however, to press De Gaulle about plans for the French president's Moscow visit in June.

De Gaulle has publicly adhered to the Soviet view that Germany's present Eastern border - on the Oder-Neisse line between East Germany and Poland - should be considered permanent. West German officials are fearful the French president might make agreements with the Kremlin which would be harmful to the cause of German reunification.

Paratroopers Kill 63 Cong, Seize Supplies

By THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) - U.S. paratroopers killed at least 63 Viet Cong in bitter hand-to-hand combat near Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon, while Australians uncovered a large Communist supply depot in the scrublands 30 miles east of Saigon, U.S. officials reported today.

Another 52 or more Communists were killed when South Vietnamese forces struck back with planes, tanks and artillery to beat off an ambush of a government troop convoy in the Mekong Delta southwest of Saigon. But a government spokesman said South Vietnamese casualties were heavy.

U.S. jets again crossed the 17th Parallel frontier to pound targets in North Viet Nam and rain millions of propaganda leaflets explaining the resumption of air attacks. A Navy A4 Skyhawk fighter-bomber was shot down by antiaircraft fire 30 miles north of Vinh. The pilot ejected safely but was surrounded and evidently taken prisoner, other airmen reported. Radio Hanoi confirmed his capture.

The plane was the seventh reported lost since the 37-day bombing pause ended Jan. 31.

In the South, a small U.S. Air Force scout plane crashed taking off from Cao Lanh air strip 75 miles southwest of Saigon. The American pilot walked away uninjured, but his Vietnamese observer was slightly hurt.

Although U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division units and Marines gave up hope of catching two Communist regiments in the Allied push into the An Lao Valley, a longtime Red stronghold near the central coast, other Viet Cong units gave ample evidence of their determination to fight in the past 24 hours.

The U.S. 101st Airborne's 1st Brigade tangled twice with the Viet Cong during a coastal sweep 11 miles southwest of Tuy Hoa known as Operation Van Buren. It is intended to protect the rice harvest in the lowlands.

About 150 paratroopers came under intense automatic fire from a Viet Cong company at noon Monday. The Americans closed in on the Communists in two hours of man-to-man combat and captured 20 Chinese-made submachine guns, a 50-caliber machine gun and a 50-caliber American-made carbine, a U.S. spokesman said.

Later in the day a paratrooper patrol was ambushed by a Viet Cong platoon of about 25 men six miles to the west. The guerrillas held their fire until the Americans came within 50 yards. The paratroopers assaulted the First Viet Cong trench in another round of hand-to-hand combat. Communist machine-gun fire kept the Americans pinned down until they were relieved by air strikes that continued until 10 p.m.
